Young People's Counselling Service

AIMS: YPCS aims to improve the mental health and emotional wellbeing of young people aged 11-18 years in the local community through the provision of individual Counselling within an accessible, safe and welcoming environment. Through Counselling we aim to help reduce a young person's level of isolation and loneliness, enable them to feel heard and understood, improve relationships with themselves, family members and peers, improve school, college and work attendance and improve academic/professional achievement. Through early intervention and prevention work we aim to reduce the reduction into higher intervention and specialist services.

REFERRALS: Our Service can be accessed through drop-in, Website Enquiries or telephone contact. We take all sources of referral. It is important that a young person is open to and motivated towards counselling. We provide an Initial Assessment with incorporated Risk Assessment which gives us an opportunity to assess each individual's needs and risk factors, present and potential, so as to ascertain the most appropriate level of intervention. We work closely with local GPs and Children and Young People's Services to ensure information sharing, safeguarding young people's welfare and a quick and easy referral pathway.

YPCS supports young people in developing coping mechanisms to help them feel more equipped to manage their distress and difficulties and to reduce and prevent the occurrence of and risk of suicide, suicidal ideation, self-harm, self-medicating through drugs and alcohol, eating disorders, and undertaking other risk related behaviours.

YPCS appreciates how a young person's mental health impacts on the whole family therefore we also support parents by listening to their concerns, signposting to other Services, sharing information about local support and courses for parents on particular issues relating to young
