

Chaperones

You may request a suitably trained chaperone for any procedure, test or examination to be present at your consultation. Please inform the doctor or nurse who will be happy to arrange this for you.

Friends and family are not permitted to act as chaperones, although they are able to accompany you.

Please note - both male and female clinical team members work within the practice, if you have a preference, please ensure you discuss this when you book your appointment.