

Dear Patient,

As you are likely aware the NHS is currently struggling to manage increased demand as a result of the Coronavirus pandemic, and we currently have a reduced workforce. As a result please do NOT contact us regarding Coronavirus-related advice about whether you

1. are at risk
2. should stay at home or go to work
3. should have a sick note

The guidance regarding diagnosis, self-isolation, and working and travel conditions is changing on a daily basis and is updated with advice on the GOV.uk website. We therefore recommend that you check this website and / or discuss working arrangements with your employer

<https://www.gov.uk/government/topical-events/coronavirus-covid-19-uk-government-response>

For further advice regarding sick notes, please follow the advice of the UK Government <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/guidance-to-employers-and-businesses-about-covid-19/covid-19-guidance-for-employees>

Thank you for your cooperation.

Yours sincerely

Dr Andrew Johnson

Dr Maher Al-Ausi